

BABY TALK: SA model Nicola Breytenbach

Model's preggie rumour spreads

RUMOURS are rife that South African model Nicola Breytenbach is pregnant.

She and her New York husband, businessman Ben Steiner, are apparently preparing for their little bundle of joy.

According to a Sunday paper, the 31-year-old model gave up drinking and smoking, and on a recent holiday with her in-laws, she refused to ski.

But her spokesman Andrew Farr says the rumours are rubbish.

"It's not true. It is all bull," he says.

"Nicola and I are in daily contact and she's never mentioned anything.

He says Nicola saw the weekend articles and thought they were "funny".

But it seems the world can't wait for the top model to have a baby.

"This is not the first time that a magazine published such rumours," Andrew says.

Nicola and Ben got married last year and are living in New York.